Corbett Refused Accommodations at a Pittsburgh Hotel.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 22.—Champion Jim Corbett arrived here with W. A. Brady, his manager, for a week's engagement at one of the theaters. The pair were driven to the Hotel Anderson, the largest in Pittsburgh. As Brady reached across the counter for a pen to register, he was stopped by a clerk about five feet high saying, "We are compelled to refuse you. We do not want any pugilists at this hotel. They are a nuisance. They always have a crowd of admirers running after them. The regular patrons are annoyed. There has been a crowd waiting around here all night to see the man who killed Sullivan, and we can't permit it. Corbett is better than the average pugilist in his associations, but we can't make an exception in his case." Corbett had not a word to say. Brady muttered something under his breath that sounded like "Well, I'll be d—d!" and the champion and his manager wended their way to the Hotel Schlosser, where they secured parlor accommodations.

A WOMAN MURDERED

By Her Jilted Lover Who Then Kills Himself.

GRIDLEY, Cal., March 22.—J. J. Ervers, a farm laborer early this morning fatally injured Mrs. Christina Onstall and then shot and killed himself. He secreted in the woods in the back yard of Mrs. Onstall's house, and when she came into the yard he fired one shot at her with a pistol. The shot missed her and the murderer then beat her brains out with a sledge hammer. Her skull was fractured and brains oozed out from a hole in her head. Ervers then put the muzzle of the pistol to his mouth and fired, dying instantly. Mrs. Onstall cannot recover, though she is still alive. She was engaged to marry Ervers, but had jilted him. Mrs. Onstall is a divorced woman with 5 children.

Legislative Bribery.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 22.—The senate committee investigating the charges of bribery made by capital of high state officials to defeat certain anti-gambling bills in the recent legislature continued its work. James F. Legate was sworn. He said: "There was considerable conference with reference to the organization of the legislature. I looked over the list of members and from my knowledge of the men and the canvass there, at least six men were counted in. I am told W. J. Buchanan received $15,000 or $20,000 from Kansas City whiskey men for a number of years. Pete Kline told me the gamblers were compelled for the last two years to contribute $10,000 per year to the Republican party of Kansas."

No Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Holman, who called at the White House today is authority for the statement that the president does not intend to call an extra session of congress. He will only call one under a stress of circumstances that does not exist. Secretary Carlisle has replied to certain inquiries as to whether he will enforce the provisions of the Chinese exclusion act, that as the act has not been repealed it will be enforced so far as lies within the power of this department.

A Compromise Offered.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A battle over the senate executive officers began in executive session today, with a proffer of a compromise by the Democrats. HETEROGENEOUS CHICAGO.

Mayor Washburne Writes the Council a Sarcastic Note.

CHICAGO, March 22.—In carrying out the order passed by the city council, directing the closing of the city hall tomorrow in honor of the birthday of Emperor William of Germany, Mayor Washburne, in a sarcastic note to the heads of the departments limiting the effect of the order as much as possible, refers to the closing of the city hall by order of the council on St. Patrick's birthday, and suggests that, in order to give due recognition to the heterogeneous population of which the city is made up, the council should take like action in reference to the birthdays of all saints and heroes, and then, if all secular days of the year have not been already used up, what is left be devoted to the honoring of some American hero's birthday.

MEN WHO DON'T WANT OFFICE.

The Minority Who Simply Desire to Shake Hands.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—"You are very much in the minority," said Mr. Cleveland, when Mr. Houk, of Ohio, called with a friend and announced that neither of them were looking for office. The majority was represented in undiminished force this morning, and Mr. Cleveland was very busily occupied until lunch time. A very dignified delegation was introduced to the president by Bancroft Davis, the reporter of the supreme court. It was composed of four bishops of the Episcopal church, the Right Revs. Parrot of Maryland, Potter of New York, Whitaker of Pennsylvania, and Hare of South Dakota.

They were shown into the private part of the house, and the president and Secretary Gresham joined them there. The object of their visit was to discuss the Chinese exclusion law with relation to its bearing on American interests in China. They said that a strict enforcement of the law would be apt to endanger the property and lives of Americans. They told the president that they came to him, not as representatives of the church, but as citizens, and they had no suggestions to make, but had simply come to confer with him, and Mr. Cleveland said in reply that he had to enforce this as well as other laws of the country.

The bishops admitted this, but suggested that he might possibly mitigate in some degree the severity of the law's operation. The president told them that he would do what he could, and the interview terminated.

After the departure of the bishops the president had a peculiar caller. He was "Fiddling" Bob Taylor, a Tennesseean lovingly called one of their most popular ex-governors, on account of his proficiency with the fiddle and the bow. "Mr. President, I have headed your electoral ticket twice in my state," said the ex-governor.

The president looked anxious. "But I have simply called now, sir, to have the honor of shaking your hand. I do not want office."

The president looked relieved.

Their Bodies Boxed.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 22.—Yesterday afternoon a hunter noticed a large dry goods box floating down stream. He towed the box to the shore and broke it open. In it were five bodies all in a terribly decomposed condition. Four of the bodies are those of men and the other is that of a woman. From the marks it is supposed the people were murdered and then set adrift on the river. A couple of months ago a family disappeared near Bulo, a town about 40 miles up the river, and it is supposed the bodies found were those of the missing people.

MORE EXPLOSIONS IN ROME.

Anarchists Attacking Attaches of the Pope.

THE CHILIAN BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Failure in British Columbia—Columbus Caravels.

ROME, March 22.—A short time after the explosion of the bomb at Marignoli place in a suburb, another explosion occurred in the city, being the third outrage of the kind within the city proper in less than a week. Last night's outrage was perpetrated at the residence of Marquis Sacchetti, grand marshal of the papal court, and has caused a feeling of great anxiety in vatican circles in view of the fact that the efforts of the dynamiters seem in a measure to be directed against the attaches of the pope's court. Fortunately the only damage done was the breaking of many windows and shaking the walls somewhat. During the night another bomb was found on a staircase in the Via Duile Quattro Fontane, with a lighted fuse attached. It was discovered just in time to prevent an explosion that in all probability would have resulted seriously to the buildings and its occupants. The police have no clue to the authors of the outrage, though they firmly believe they are anarchists trying to intimidate the authorities, and thus prevent the punishment of a number of their friends recently arrested. This theory is not generally accepted, however, as the outrages have been directed as much against the vatican officers as against the government. Every possible effort is being made to detect the guilty parties and prevent a repetition of the outrages.

Pursuing the Revolt.

VALPARAISO, March 22.—The correspondent at Rivera telegraphs that General Portugal's cavalry regiment of 500 men has charged on the city of Santa Ana. The government General Isidoro Hernandez, with 1800 troops, is in hot pursuit of the revolt, who are fleeing toward Bago. The correspondent at Buenos Ayres telegraphs that public opinion is at a high pitch of excitement awaiting the arrival of Limit Commissioner Vivanco. After consulting with him, a number of prominent politicians were asked by the government to give their advice on the boundary question pending the rejection or approval of the protocol with Chili. There is a strong feeling against the abandonment of the idea of obtaining a port on the Pacific coast. The revolutionists in Catamarca are destroying houses and vineyards. They are being pursued by the national guard.

Don't Want Reciprocity.

LONDON, March 22.—The annual meeting of the association of the chambers of commerce of the United Kingdom rejected the following resolution presented by the Birmingham chamber of commerce: "That as in the opinion of this meeting the future prosperity of British commerce must increasingly depend on our commercial relations with our colonies, and recognizing the fact that Canada has by a resolution of her parliament invited the mother country to enter into an arrangement for reciprocal preferential duties, we hereby urge upon the government the necessity of taking that invitation into their immediate most serious consideration."

British Columbia Failure.

VANCOUVER, March 22.—A sensation was caused in business circles by the announcement of the failure of the Oriental Traders' Company, limited, formed here three years ago. The company did considerable business in teas, liquors, silks and general Oriental merchandise, and trade was steadily growing. Three months ago G. G. Mackay, chief shareholder, died suddenly, and that and a lack of capital are thought to be the causes of the failure. The head office is here, and they have branches in Eastern Canada. The liabilities are about $25,000, assets nominally equal. The bank of British Columbia is the heaviest creditor. P. W. W. King was manager of the company.
